Choose the size you need. Below is a rough illustration of each wall. Each wall can be used in ANY scale, since different walls are used for various structural applications.

Welcome to the new world of creative model building using our new flexible tooling by Chooch. You will find our products incredibly easy to use and fun to make things that used to take hours to scratch build. Over time, Chooch will be releasing many new products to make your hobby more creative.

This vinyl material is easy to cut with scissors or with #11 modeler's blade. You can also create corners by scoring the front and bending the casting from the back allowing the vinyl to stay attached.
